WEATHER PROVES NATIONALS' FOE

Griff's Young Players May Work Outdoors This Afternoon on College Field.

M'BRIDE HERE TO-DAY

Johnson and Groom Due to Arrive Wednesday—All the Training Camp Gossip.

By C. W. SWAN.

Charlottesville, Va., March 4.—"If the sun comes out strong to-morrow and the air is warm, I will take the boys out on the diamond for a little while in the afternoon," said Manager Clark Griffith to-night. "Morning practice, however, will be confined to gym work, but I want them out in the air as soon as possible, and the college field will get the snow disappear quickly down here."

Lambeth Field drains easily, and the turf is unusually thick, so the chances are that the players will get a chance to show what they can do in the open to-morrow afternoon.

Manager Griffith stated that George McBride would reach Washington to-morrow and had been ordered to round up the main squad, which will report here next Sunday afternoon.

Walter Johnson and Bob Groom are due in the Capital Wednesday. The latter will go at once to Charlottesville, and Johnson may accompany him, as Griffith has told him to come down before the big squad, if he sees fit.

When Johnson and Groom report the complete roster of twirlers will be on hand, there being an even dozen under contract.

Dixie Walker has a slight cold in his arm, which does not amount to a great deal, as to-day was the first real work of the season for the majority of the crew, and a few more arms are to be expected.

Charlottesville is still under a mantle of white, although the snow is rapidly melting and slush is taking its place. Most of the athletes on every hand, and the majority of them preferred to stay at the Hotel Griffith to-night rather than venture downtown.

The proposed match between two pairs of doubles will not take place as arranged, for the simple reason that the noble town of Charlottesville does not want a battle of "Buck" Becker, captain of the Washington pair, in broken-hearted over the verdict, but says that he will take the other pair on when the team returns home.

Williams and Henry got the worst of the whist argument to-day, but they were to be expected, and the play will continue.

Early this morning the Nationals made a trip downtown, as outdoor work was out of the question, and the boys had to buy gym shoes. Griffith purchased enough to go around, and the long hike back to the Hotel Griffith was on. The snow was melting fast and the walk was through mud and slush.

Grabbing their uniforms, which had been given out by Manager Griffith after breakfast, the lads headed across the hill to Fayerweather gymnasium, where they had nearly two hours of stiff work, including a jump around the track, laid out by the veteran hurler of the staff, Long Tom Hughes.

Starting off easy, the twirlers had their arms swinging free in a short while, and the plunk of the ball hitting the big mitt was heard outside the gym when they put on a little steam. Griffith would not allow them to work too hard, and soon called a halt.

Jay Carl Cashion, the giant from Carroll, is in good condition, having a slight sprain on his ankle, received in a practice game in Charlottesville, N. C., last week. He has been working out daily for the past two weeks, and is ready to go in and pitch a game at a minute's notice.

Griff is greatly pleased with the appearance of this big youngster, and spent most of his time watching Carl toss the ball to Henry Adams, who is a wonder.

Another lad who was closely watched by Griff was Joe Engel, the Washington youngster. Engel has a free, easy motion that was him a place in the bow even at once, when he started to shoot over a few fast ones. Griff was heard to remark that Engel looked mighty good.

Joe has the build that goes with a winning pitcher in the big show, being tall and thin, and to-day was light, but he showed that there is plenty of the real stuff up his sleeve. Joe has taken good care of himself this winter, and is now ready for the game.

Alva Williams, the latest addition to the Nationals' receiving section of the ball club, looking a little better in the short work-out this morning. Williams is a big fellow, weighing close to the 130 mark, but is unusually fast and quick on his feet.

He handled several of the young pitchers in first-class style, showing the old back and showing that old "pop" that made him a favorite with the Nationals fans.

After the pitchers had worked out about an hour, and then around the track a dozen times or so, and then had them steam out. Bill Cunningham, Ray Morgan, John Henry, Eddie Almsmith, Alva Williams, and Griff himself indulged in a little boxing practice, the boys doing the beating to Williams, Morgan, and Cunningham and Henry doing the tapping to Almsmith and Williams.

Williams and Almsmith were the life of the party, time and again putting little fancy stunts that kept the crowd of town boys and college youths on the jump. Williams is sure to make a fine catcher, and when they had finished with the big ball the receivers were blowing just a little.

Long Tom Hughes was the first on the track and circled it close on to twenty

TRAINING CAMP NOTES.

Charlottesville, Va., March 4.—Trainer Mike Martin is greatly pleased with the collection of star twirlers on the Nationals' pay roll. Of the recruits, two of them are over the six-foot mark, and the other four are just one inch short.

Speaking of Carl Cashion, Martin said: "That little Cashion looks to be a wonder. He is the best built man I have had in charge for many a day, and should be a world beater. His build is beautiful."

Eddie Almsmith and John Henry are still the same old pair of cronies. This outfit to-day hung together like the original Jimmie twins, and that is no joke.

Joe Hoelling, the Richmond amateur, is suffering from an abscess on his neck, but Trainer Martin does not think it will bother him in the least.

"Buck" Becker, the Pride of the Navy Yard, is a ducky bowler. A match game has been arranged between "Buck" and an unknown pitcher on one team, and Ray Morgan and Joe Engel on the other outfit. This should be some match.

Musser, Engel and Beekling are rooming together in the largest room in Griffith Hall. These rooms are just big enough for three.

Manager Griffith is greatly pleased with the work that has been done in Griffith Hall. The ball-tossers Sunday night, due to the hustling of Mike Martin.

"Taps will be sounded at 10:30," was the announcement made by Manager Griffith to-day. Hereafter the ball-tossers will have to be under the covers by that time, and no loosing allowed. "Early to bed and early to rise makes a good ball player," is Griff's motto.

The Virginia collegians greet the Nationals with the glad hand whenever one of the crew is met on the street. They think the bunch is the best ever.

Mike Martin provided the lads with plenty of writing materials, and the boys lost no time sending off letters and postals to-day. The drug stores are doing a big business in post cards at the present time.

Collegian John Henry is full of the old "pop," being the real long walker of the troupe. This athlete walked about yesterday, tramping through the snow.

Big Alva Williams is one of the leading what players in the outfit. Williams and Henry teamed up Sunday night and walloped their opponents.

Jerry Akers, the Dubuque recruit, is teamed with Alva Williams, who is from his home town. This pair formerly worked in the points for an amateur team in Illinois, and when they start talking about the olden days some classy little stories are heard.

An yet no checker board has been introduced into Griffith Hall, but it will be before long, as Griffith told Bob Groom has one working overtime.

From Other Training Camps

Atlanta, March 4.—The continued bad weather made morning practice among the New York Americans impossible, but Wolverton took the squad out for a couple of hours practice in Ponce de Leon Park this afternoon and put those who have joined the training camp through a strenuous set of practice. The four pitchers on hand gave the pitchers all the exercise they could stand, and both infield and outfield were worked at a good speed.

Russell Ford, the fearless ball toser, and a band of his back league recruits swarmed the ranks of the Yankees this morning. Ford is about ten pounds lighter than last year, and is in fine shape.

George McConnell, the spitball pitcher secured from Pittsburgh, is out for the night, and to-morrow morning will join the squad in practice. When McConnell was with the Yankees last, according to John Gansel, the tall one had a swell tender that he mixed in with his spitball and slow ball. During his three years' sojourn in the Eastern League Mac always hit close to the 300 mark.

Marlin, Tex., March 4.—The full squad of the New York Nationals regulars came out for the first time to-day since training began, but owing to the soggy ground McDowd did not push them to any extent, contenting himself with ordering a light batting practice as their portion of the day's work. The men were each allowed one hit and a run, and then took their places on the bench to await their turn. The batting order that prevailed last year was maintained.

The pitchers of the regular team were also worked regularly and judiciously, each taking a turn at throwing a few balls and then getting in line for his batting practice.

Manager McDowd spent most of his time with the batters, among whom he thinks he has a bunch of good baseball material, though the heavy grounds made fast work impossible.

New Orleans, March 4.—The Cubs began active training to-day. One of the hits of the morning was Lewis Smith, the Indian phenom. As the Cubs already have one Smith, every man the Indian except first base. The old timers agree that Chance has picked up a wonder. No one knows whose job Casey Smith will get. The squad did nothing to-day but chuck the ball, play high, low, and run once around the park. Manager Chance arrived from California late to-night, and was enthusiastic over the initial work-out.

St. Louis, March 4.—President Hedges announced to-day that wintry weather will not change his plans for the Browns to do their spring training here. "To condition them where it is warm and start them playing where it is colder injures players," he explained. So to-morrow the Browns will hike to Forest Park if their indoor grounds are too cold. Wallace and his heavyweights arrived from West Baden this morning. Monte Croes is on the way from Philadelphia. Hedges expects George Bivona to report out later than Wednesday.

Columbus, Ga., March 4.—Yesterday's rain did not hurt the fine grass field at League Park, and the Reds put in two long sessions of practice to-day, working both morning and afternoon. Manager O'Day devoted a great deal of time to working his pitchers for control, while

AMATEURS ADOPT ONE-TEAM RULE

Bob Young Re-elected President. Season to Open Early in May.

The amateur committee at its regular meeting last night adopted, with a few minor changes, the rule drafted and submitted by the committee on rules, and the District this season will for the first time in the history of organized baseball put into effect the one-team rule.

A ball player cannot play with more than one team and the club with which he first signs has the prior claim to his services.

The following leagues were represented at the meeting last night: Territorial, by Mr. Ormsby; the Capital City, by Mr. Edwards; District, by Mr. Doyle; Independence, Mr. Rooker; Maryland, by Mr. H. H. Edwards; Columbia, by Mr. H. H. Edwards; and Sunday School, by Mr. Love.

Whether a player or manager or both should be held responsible for any inducement for playing amateur baseball in games governed by the amateur baseball commission was thoroughly thrashed out.

An amendment was offered to rule 4 of the playing season rules, which imposes a punishment on managers giving or players receiving a remuneration or article of value of any kind. It was agreed in this amendment to eliminate the player entirely and place all responsibility on the offending manager. This did not meet with success, as many arguments were presented whereby managers and players could evade such a ruling.

The rule was finally revised so as to read that no player should "give, offer, or receive any remuneration or article of value of any kind" in connection with services. Final action was taken on the rule in regard to a player signing more than one contract under the amateur commission.

After a lengthy discussion this rule was adopted and now a player is liable to suspension during the season if he signs a contract before participating in any game with a player signed by any team which has played one scheduled contest, he will be suspended for a period of two years from the date of his offense.

As to the playing season, the eligibility of pitchers in the post-season games, the rule now reads, a pitcher must have worked in at least four innings of three or more games before he may compete in the championship series.

As a means for handling funds of the post-season games, an amendment was offered and adopted which provided for the aid of an amateur treasurer, who with the aid of an amateur secretary, receipts of this series and after the commission had deducted 10 per cent of the gross receipts and had defrayed all the expenses of the series, the balance was to be equally divided between the clubs participating. A proviso was made that the money should be held by the treasurer as a guarantee of defraying the expenses of the series, and the money should be returned to the clubs from the receipts of this series.

The commission also adopted an amendment to the playing season rules, which states that all teams must begin their season on or before the first Monday in May, except when otherwise authorized by the commission.

President "Bob" Young will again be the leader of amateur baseball, having been unanimously re-elected. Charlie King was chosen treasurer, while George Schaefer will take over the duties of secretary. No vice president was selected because no candidate for that office could be found at the present time.

At a meeting of the National City League at Cornell's store last night, E. J. Edwards was chosen president of that popular organization; R. J. Blosser, vice president; and Harry LeClair, secretary-treasurer.

JENNINGS ARRIVES IN CAMP.

Tiers' Manager Wires for Del Gainer to Report.

Monroe, La., March 4.—The Tier camp was disbanded to-day by the arrival of Manager Jennings. Pitchers Laffite and Dubac, and Second Sucker Paddy Bannan, and his wife, the former wife of Pop Miller, Elston Marshall, and others, who is reported dying.

Jennings still limps and has a lame wrist as a result of his automobile accident last November. His first act was to telegraph for Del Gainer, who was the young man to have more severe training course than the other regulars in order to prove that his broken arm is really all right, and his recovery will have to go to first and one of the youngsters to third.

Robertson and Giebel Sign. Local Boys Will Again Play with Savannah Club.

"Dick" Robertson and "Joe" Giebel, the star battery of the Savannah team, in the South Atlantic League, have put an end to the restlessness of the fans in Savannah by attaching their signatures to contracts for the coming season. It was feared they would not sign, because of their delay in signing, but after an interview with "Bob" Doyle, Savannah's scout, all was arranged satisfactorily. Another great season is assured them by the delay in signing, but after an interview with "Bob" Doyle, Savannah's scout, all was arranged satisfactorily.

BOWLERS RECEIVE HERALD MEDALS

Lucky High Score Rollers Presented with Spoils of War at Sherman's Alleys.

Frank Sherman's Royal Bowling Alley was the meeting place last night for a large number of ducky rollers, principally the winners in the various events of the Washington Herald ducky tournament, and their adherents.

The prizes distributed consisted of The Herald medals, gold, silver, and bronze, won in the order named in the five-men team event by the Mount Vernon, Imperials, and Belmonts; in the doubles, Riders and Hawksworth, Stanford and King, V. Gull and Gowan; in the singles, Du Busky, Meany, and Harley. Du Busky also being the winner of the two gold medals donated for high single game and best total for nine games. In addition to these, the Belmonts received the prize donated by Mr. Fletcher, manager of the local branch of the Brunswick-Balke-Clender Company, for high single team game, consisting of three single alleys, and the Spalding Brothers prize, one Massachusetts State League score book.

Michael and Oliver, of the Belmont team also being the winners of the prize for high single game in the doubles, fifty cigars donated by the Washington Tobacco Company, Michael in addition being the winner of the Loughran prize, fifty cigars. McKillen received one box of Coca-Cola, donated by the Coca-Cola Company for high fast game.

In the roll-off for the National Sporting Goods Store prize, consisting of one pair of bowling shoes, Harley defeated Shaw, Jr., by piling up 198 pins against his opponent's 92. Harley showed great class in this game by making three difficult spares.

The same bowler also won the roll-off for the Cochrane prize, consisting of fifty cigars, by taking Vincent Gull's measure rather easily with a score of 114 to 55, three spares and one strike helping to make this total. The Mount Vernon's anchor man not being able to "pull" a single spare in his game.

But the most sensational bowling of the evening was done by Du Busky, the winner of the gold medals in all the individual events, in rolling off the tie for the Offender prize, fifty City cigars, with T. Howard. With the score standing 74 to 51 in the seventh frame in favor of Howard, the Tenthman Laundry bowler made a narrow escape by pulling off a strike in the eighth, followed by a spare in the ninth, and again striking in the tenth frame, giving him a score of 114 against Howard's 74. The latter also "sparing" in the ninth frame.

In a few well-chosen words, William Peet, the sporting editor of The Washington Herald, addressed the large crowd present, assuring them of the hearty support of The Washington Herald in the furtherance of this popular indoor pastime, and distributed the various prizes to the respective winners.

With a hearty cheer for The Washington Herald, the winners and guests took their departure, and thus ended the greatest ducky tournament ever held.
